

Royal Society Library Inter-library loan policy

The Royal Society Library will lend:

- Monographs published post-1950

The Royal Society Library will not lend:

- Reference material
- Fragile items
- Periodicals

The Royal Society Library will photocopy within copyright limits, but not fragile items.

Charges

Book loan and scanning charges will be administered via the British Library Document Supply Service. Please supply a valid BL account number.

Other information

The book loan period is 21 days, and loans may be renewed twice.

If you fail to return or renew a book at the end of its loan period, your borrowing privileges will be suspended.

If you lose a book, or return a book in a damaged, stained or otherwise unusable condition, you will be liable to pay for a replacement copy at the current market price.

Loan items can be obtained free of charge if you are able to visit the Library in person and register as a reader. Details can be found at <http://royalsociety.org/Using-the-Library/>.
